"Contributors." Imperfections: Studies in Mistakes, Flaws, and Failures. Ed. Caleb Kelly, Jakko Kemper and Ellen Rutten. New York: Bloomsbury Academic, 2022. 305–308. Bloomsbury Collections. Web. 26 Apr. 2023. <<http://dx.doi.org/10.5040/9781501380303-007>>.

Downloaded from Bloomsbury Collections, www.bloomsburycollections.com, 26 April 2023, 09:44 UTC.

Copyright © Caleb Kelly, Jakko Kemper, and Ellen Rutten 2022. Released under a CC BY-NC-ND licence (<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/3.0/>). You may share this work for non-commercial purposes only, provided you give attribution to the copyright holder and the publisher, and provide a link to the Creative Commons licence.

Contributors

Ernst van Alphen is Professor of Literary Studies at Leiden University and Queen Beatrix Professor of Dutch Studies and of Rhetoric at the University of California, Berkeley. He teaches and studies (post)modern literature and its relation to visual arts. His publications include the Archive: Art and Photography in Times of New Media (2014), Failed Images: Photography and Its Counterpractices (2018), and Staging.

Mieke Bal is a cultural theorist/critic, video artist, professor emeritus at the University of Amsterdam and laureate of honorary doctorates in art and philosophy at the universities of London and Helsinki. Her publications, films, and installations include Thinking in Film (2013), Travelling Concepts in the Humanities (2002), and the feature film Madame B (film, 2013; installation Munch Museum Oslo, 2017).

Linor Goralik is an award-winning Russian/Israeli poet, designer, and fashion theorist, who teaches at the Moscow School of Economics and Social Sciences. Among many others, Goralik's publications include the poetry/prose collection Found Life (2017), the cultural history of Mattel dolls Barbie (2014), and multiple publications devoted to fashion, art, and jewelry in the Russian journal Teoriia Mody (Theory of Fashion).

Ilona E. de Hooge is Associate Professor in Marketing and Consumer Behavior at Wageningen University. She coauthored publications devoted to emotions (shame and guilt, in particular), positive consumer experiences, and authenticity in marketing and consumer behavior for, among other venues, the journals Food Quality and Preference, International Journal of Research in Marketing, and the Journal of Personality and Psychology.

Tingting Hui is a Ph.D student at the Centre for the Arts in Society at the University of Leiden, with a background in media and language studies at Leiden and Northwestern University. Her research explores the social, political, and cultural forces that structure people's language-body interrelations. Her publications on language, failure, and translation appeared in Third Text and The Decadent Review, among other venues.

Steven J. Jackson is Associate Professor in the Department of Information Science and Department of Science & Technology Studies at Cornell University. His publications devoted to infrastructure, collaboration, breakdown, and repair appeared in Science, Technology, and Human Values and in edited volumes devoted to the sociology of speed and media technologies, among other venues.

Caleb Kelly is Associate Professor of Media Arts at the University of New South Wales, Australia. Born in Aotearoa New Zealand, he has published widely on sound in the arts including Gallery Sound (2017), Sound (ed.) (2011), and Cracked Media: the sound of malfunction (2009). Recently he has curated the touring exhibition Material Sound (2018) and Materials, Sounds and the Black Mountain College (Asheville USA, 2019).

Jakko Kemper is a lecturer in New Media and Digital Culture at the University of Amsterdam. He has completed his Ph.D at the Amsterdam School for Cultural Analysis. His work is focused on technology and aesthetics and has previously been published in Information, Communication & Society and Revue Intermédialités.

Melle Jan Kromhout is a musicologist and media theorist. After receiving his PhD at the University of Amsterdam, he was affiliated as postdoctoral research fellow to the University of Cambridge. Kromhout's publications include analyses devoted to musicology, sound studies, and media studies for the Journal of Sonic Studies, Sound Studies and Isis, and the monograph The Logic of Filtering: How Noise Shapes the Sound of Recorded Music (2021).

Patricia Pisters is Professor of Media Studies and Film Studies at the University of Amsterdam and founding (co)editor of NECSUS: European Journal of Media Studies. Her writings include The Neuro Image: A Deleuzian Filmphilosophy of Digital Screen Culture (2012) and New Blood in Contemporary Cinema: Women Directors and the Poetics of Horror (2020).

Domnica Radulescu is an award-winning Romanian-born, US-based prose writer, literary theoretician, and Distinguished Service Professor of Comparative Literature at Washington & Lee University in Virginia. Next to multiple novels and plays, she (co)authored Theater of War & Exile: Twelve Playwrights, Directors and Performers from Eastern Europe and Israel (2015) and "Gypsies" in European Literature & Culture (2008).

Ellen Rutten is Professor of Russian & Slavic Literatures at the University of Amsterdam and editor-in-chief of the peer-reviewed academic journal Russian Literature. Her book publications include Unattainable Bride Russia (2010), Memory, Conflict and New Media (2013, with Vera Zvereva and Julie Fedor) and Sincerity after Communism: A Cultural History (2017).

Yuriko Saito is Professor Emerita of Philosophy at Rhode Island School of Design. Her publications include Aesthetics of the Familiar: Everyday Life and World-Making (2017), Everyday Aesthetics (2008), and analyses devoted to aesthetics of imperfection and insufficiency in Contemporary Aesthetics and the Journal of Aesthetics and Art Criticism, among other publication platforms.

Yngvar Steinholt is Associate Professor of Russian Culture & Literature at the University of Tromsø, Norway. Among other publications, he is coeditor of A War of Songs: Popular Music and Recent Russia-Ukraine Relations (2019) and Punk in Russia: Cultural Mutation from the “Useless” to the “Moronic” (2014) and author of Rock in the Reservation: Songs from the Leningrad Rock Club (2005).

Oskar Verkaaik is a journalist and anthropologist based at the University of Amsterdam. His publications include Migrants and Militants: Fun and Urban Violence in Pakistan (2004) and research devoted to religion, violence, art, and architecture, among other topics, in City & Society, Ethnography, South Asian Popular Culture, and the Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute, among other venues.

Joanna van der Zanden is an independent curator who focuses on socially engaged arts and design projects and participatory practices. She has developed projects for Platform21 (Amsterdam), the Museu da Casa Brasileira (Sao Paulo), and the Istanbul Biennale, among other institutions. She is initiator and co-author of the Repair Manifesto (2009)—which was translated into more than ten languages—and chairwoman of the board of Repair Café International Foundation.